

only in dreams

whoa, where am i?!

this mansion is gargantuan!

it makes me wonder what's inside...

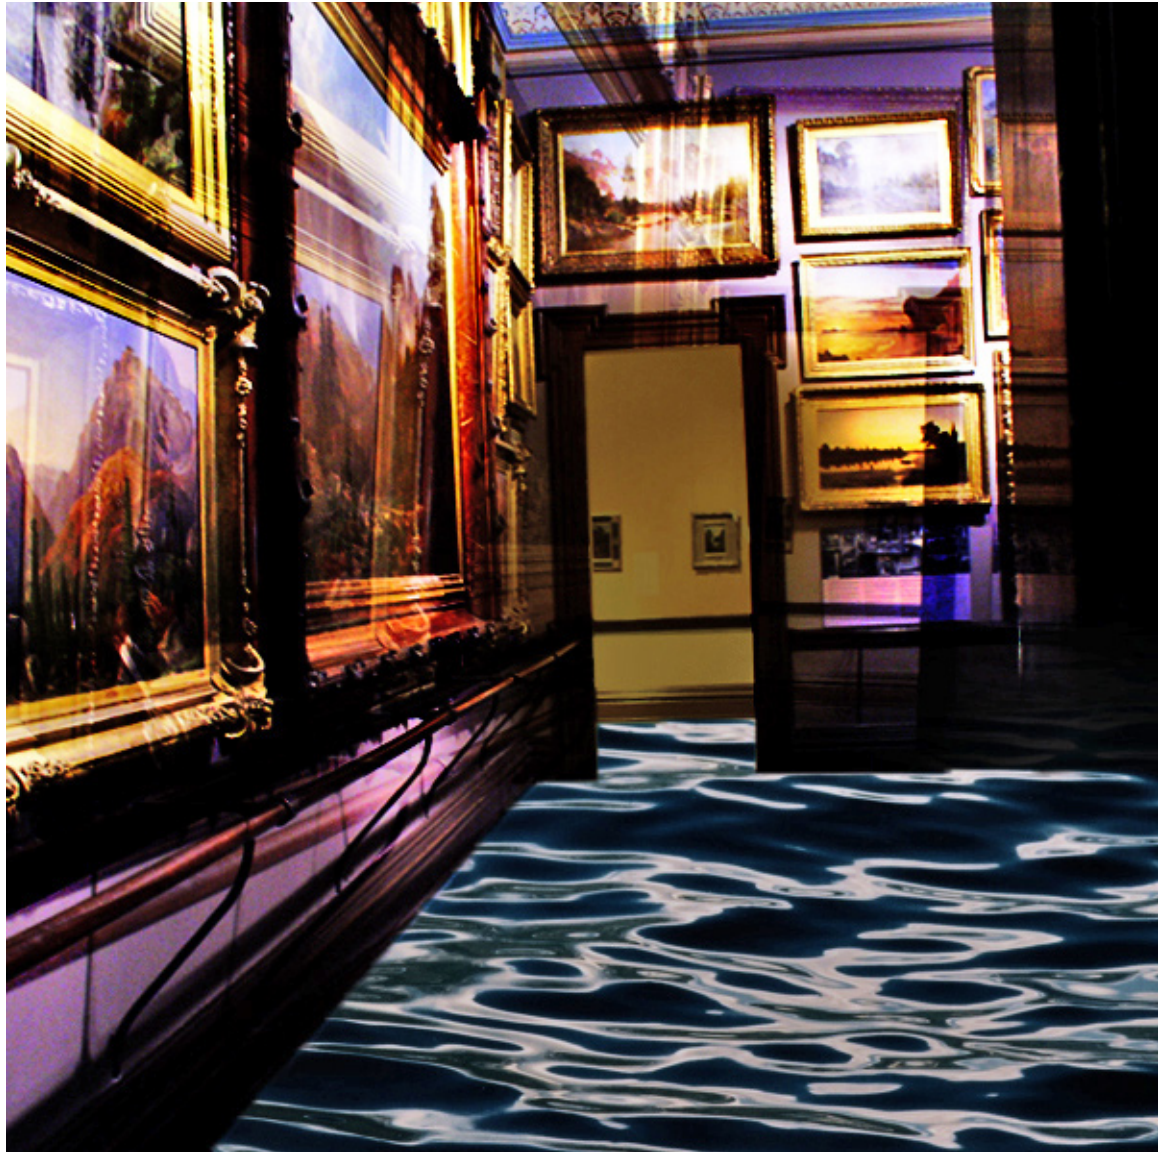

my senses tell me something is awfully weird about this place
...but this bright, inviting (unlocked) door in front of me... i simply can't turn down

a beautiful sight, presented before my eyes
i feel like i'm in a historic museum!
that light is so magical and is calling my name...

i step into the light and teleport to see so much more it looks like a continuation of the ballroom
the stairs seem to be disappearing!

the paintings on the wall are mesmerizing.. this pool of water seems to want to prevent me
from going through that door

still mesmerized by all the beautiful paintings... i see a big beautiful clock
a face so familiar brings back initial senses i had about this place things begin to feel less like reality and more like fantasy forcing me to really need to get out of here thankfully, i see a glimmer of hope

i look back
happy to have fed my curiosity
without giving up my dear life

what a nightmare.